

Engineering

Benefit from our decades of experience and the unique knowledge about the behaviour of materials during engineering. Let our experts analyse your application process in detail and choose the right product range for you.

Service package

- Recommendation of application data and tools with regard to product design
- Technical support via e-mail and telephone
- On site technical support for customers and distributors for all standard and segment products
- Elaboration of suggestions for machining
- Assessment of reduced output
- Implementation of market trials
- Support and presence at trade fairs
- Technical training for customers, distributors and sales representatives

